

“Rarely have I worked with a young person so full of talent and enthusiasm for the job”
– Jane Elsdon-Dew Producer/Director BBC

SELF SUMMARY

In 2022 I graduated from the University of Portsmouth with a first-Class Honours degree in film production and in the following year my film ‘When Death Comes Knocking’ won an RTS award. I am eager for a career within the creative field. There is nothing that I love more, than to entertain and educate through my films, working together with others to achieve our shared goals. Outside of film making, I am passionate about Urban Exploring. I enjoy discovering places the world seems to have left behind and uncovering the stories that these places hold, stories that I hope to share with others through my photography.

SKILLS & EXPERIENCE

Extremely organised, experienced with creating social media campaigns, presentations, posters, animations, and videos.

Excellent team working and communication skills, working within various industries.

Experienced with Microsoft office suite, Final Draft 11, Final Cut Pro and After effects.

Ran two very successful crowdfunding campaigns, their social media pages, and finances for ‘When Death comes Knocking’ and ‘Disembodied’.

Winner of best film in multiple 48-hour film challenges, so I am good at working fast and effectively under pressure using great time management.

Due to making films during the pandemic, I had to be pro-active, and problem solve, all whilst under the limitations of working remotely with my team.

Strong academic and research skills, ensuring needs and expectations are met, appealing to target audiences, staying current and relevant.
